Introduction:

Sue is a multi-faceted dynamo who coaches, speaks, leads life-changing workshops, authors multiple books, and has interviewed hundreds of inspiring minds through her radio show - the I'm Thankful Network.

The queen of gratitude, she has a passion for creating transformative and positive change in people's lives, and has gone after it with gusto for over 23 years. Sue creates practical tools for getting people out of their own way, discover their purpose, passion, and power, and most importantly... to MAKE IT STICK!

Sue Lundquist's young life started out riddled with tragedy: death, suicides, abandonment issues, loss of personal power, physical and mental abuses. But that did not define her life.

Today she is a successful business owner, wife & mother to three children. She has walked the talk and pushed through the hard work to tell you that you can overcome tragedy and THRIVE.

Her next book soon to be released is Inner Critic Got Your Tongue, helping you silence negative self talk and lead the life you were meant to!
